

#46-The Declaration of Independence

I think that we should not have homework on the weekends because that's when kids do stuff with their family I hate having homework on the weekends because you're tied up inside and have to do it. School work is for at school not for at home that's when we us school kids want to go home and enjoy time with our family just like you teachers like to spend time with your families.

I believe the hallway problem needs to get solved people stopping right in the middle of the hall because people can't move their feet and they stand there staring at their phones. Also some people are late to their classes sometimes because it's that bad some days.

I think that we should not have cops sit in the parking lot because they have other people to worry about then some school kids that just got out of school where they are either going to work or there going home. Some kids only make minimum wage and they don't have enough money to pay for a ticket.

I don't like that we get so much homework and if we get it done it does not end up in the grade book until like two weeks later. Then they ask why you have missing assignments.

I think teachers should not lose your tests that you take because I had one do that and after I took the last exam last year they are like oh I found it and I was supposed to make corrections the day before so I could get my grade up a little more. Teachers are like raspberry's some are sweet and some of them are very tart.

I think that the bathrooms need to be cleaned way better. Because they would not pass no inspection at all. There is boogers all over the stall walls in there the janitors need to do a better job in keeping stuff clean. Because that's why people get sick it's nasty.

I believe that teachers over exaggerate over somethings us kids do. Like if you do not want to deal with it then why did you choose this career and it's not are fault that you chose the job to deal with kids all day. Its funny when the teachers are treating you bad and then you do the same and they can't take it and they send you to the office because we just are following the golden rule treat others the way you want to be treated and they wonder why we become mean and don't behave sometimes. And teachers do the same to us kids.

